

NATIONALISTS ARE SURE OF HOLDING ISLE OF FORMOSA

Express Confidence To Stand Out Against Communist Assault

IS A "BIG ORDER"

Their View Not Shared By Most Non-Chinese Observers

What is being done by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek to hold Formosa, the island bastion that is the last stronghold of his once powerful Nationalist movement in China? Defenses of the strategic island are discussed in the following article, last in a series of three by David E. Tettebaum of International News Service, who has just returned from a 15,000-mile flying trip to Formosa.

By David E. Tettebaum (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 18 — (INS) — China's Nationalists are confident of their ability to hold Formosa against a Communist assault but the feeling is not shared by most non-Chinese observers.

To reverse the long string of military defeats suffered by the Nationalists admittedly is a large order since, militarily, the successful usually become more successful.

The Nationalists in an effort to prove that new factors have completely altered the situation, claim extensive revisions in the military and governmental setup which, they say, have sharply reduced the admitted inefficiency and corruption.

The appointment of General Sun Li-jen as commander-in-chief of the ground forces has been widely applauded by anti-Communist observers throughout the Far East.

Sun, a V. M. I. graduate and a protégé of the late General Joseph Stilwell, made an excellent reputation in Burma during World War II, then inexplicably was sent to

BARNHOUSE PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE

Fined for Operating Motor Vehicle After Suspension of Privilege

THE SECOND OFFENSE

DOYLESTOWN, May 18 — Entering a plea of guilty of operating a motor vehicle after that privilege had been suspended, Donald G. Barnhouse, Jr., 23, Doylestown township, who is a science instructor at the Lawrenceville, N. J. school, was sentenced by President Judge Hiram H. Keller. The sentence was a fine of $200 and the costs of prosecution.

The defendant-instructor, who was arrested March 20 by State Trooper Boleslaw Wojciechowski near his home in Doylestown township, had his license suspended for 90 days because of speeding Feb. 14. It was suspended once before, Dec. 10, 1946, for a 90-day period. He was arrested Nov. 2, 1946, on charges of speeding and improper passing and again on Aug. 12, 1949, for speeding.

He was also arrested for making an improper pass March 20, State Policeman Wojciechowski testified. "What's wrong with you?" President Judge Keller asked the defendant.

"I didn't take the matter too seriously because my attitude towards traffic violations has always been trivial," said Barnhouse. "You feel there is no moral turpitude involved, is that it?" asked the Court.

"Well, obeying traffic laws is very important because they are made for the sake of the traveling public."

Howard R. Mulligan, of Devon, an elder of the defendant's father's Presbyterian church in Philadelphia, served as a character witness.

Croydon Man Who Robbed Keystone Hotel Is Given Sentence

DOYLESTOWN, May 18 — A number of cases in which Bristolians were involved have come before the Grand Jury this week. Among the cases are those of residents of Bristol, West Bristol, and Croydon.

Harry Schwartz, 22, Bristol Terrace No. 11, who pleaded guilty to assault and battery and resisting arrest, was sentenced by President Judge Keller to pay a fine of $10 and serve three months in jail. "You have to learn that you can't go around being a bully," said the Court.

Officer John Dugan, of the Bristol Police, testified Schwartz punched Michael Liberatore in the face April 18, when Liberatore told him to get off the car. The fight grew out of an argument over a girl who was sitting in a car. The defendant, who is a merchant marine man, has been in fights twice before, a Bristol police officer testified. He has two previous arrests.

Elmer Alfred Mills, 21, West Bristol, who pleaded guilty to assault and battery and indecent assault, will be sent to the Norristown State Hospital to undergo a mental examination. Judge Keller deferred sentence pending a psychiatrist's examination on the defendant, who is also an epileptic. Miss Dolores Elmer, 21, Bristol, testified the defendant accosted her Feb. 28. Officer John A. Sackville testified he noticed the defendant acting strangely once before and warned him about his conduct.

Fred Booz, 29, employed at Bristol, who pleaded guilty to assault and battery on his 19-year-old wife, Elsie, who is the mother of their small child, was severely reprimanded by Judge Keller. He was given a suspended sentence and directed to pay the costs of prosecution. "Both of you act like children," said the Court. "I want you to go home and behave yourselves and accept your responsibilities." Judge Keller said "Do you think you are still living in the 'Dark Ages' beating up your wife?" the Court asked the husband-defendant, who said he

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Klerman (Distributed by International News Service)

For those who haven't figured out their summer vacation yet... that trip of Harry's was one of the finest of the all-expense tours and he was gone less than two weeks.

He met lots of new friends, visited many places of interest and slept under two budgets every night.

Vic Johnson covered the same route for the Republicans... His was a kind of a student tour and he came back qualified as an observer of the charm school methods.

Johnson learned many things on the trip to report to Republican leaders... His first report reads "Look Out!"

His second report now in preparation will say "This boy has got nothing for us to be afraid of except voters."

It will take a little time to analyze fully the results of the President's trip but even before he started back from Grand Coulee Dam the Turkish Democrats whipped the Turkish Republicans for the first time since 1923.

OF WORMS AND MEN

Like a great many new wrinkles in chemical achievement, news that the stuff they used to mothball ships can now provide a new roof for a man's domicile sounds wonderful, but probably there are drawbacks.

Anyone who has seen this "mothballing" process at close range can testify to its efficiency. The Navy, for instance, will take a 40mm gun mount and surround it with a plastic cocoon impervious to weather and other agencies that rust and corrode metal. The same thing has been done with planes.

Now, according to a news item, the cocoon material — a plastic — is available for civilian use. Somebody immediately thought of all the leaking roofs in the country and figured the cocoon process would be a natural for fixing them up. The plastic is applied as a spray solidifying after the air hits it, and forming a continuous seal. There is no information on how prices would compare with the convention roofing job.

Man has done rather well by himself through imitation of spiders and silk worms. Man-made fibers outdo the best silkworm ever has done and latex webs look more natural than the best gossamer fly trap a spider ever spun. Now man is building cocoons and has extended that practice to mending his roofs.

CENSUS DOUBTS

Many an American city, proud of its size and growth and jealous of the rivalry of other growing cities, may not be satisfied with the results of the federal census now nearing completion.

Private experts are raising doubts about whether the census will make a clean sweep of the populace. Census officials indicate their complete count of New York City, for example, will show a total of approximately 7,750,000, which is half a million less than some authoritative private estimates.

City services and utilities, which have fairly accurate standards of measurement figure the city has well in excess of 8,000,000 people. If the census total doesn't show it, there will be resentment, particularly if cities like Chicago, Los Angeles and Detroit show greater percentage gains.

Should the official count, which stands in the national record books for the next 10 years, fail to record expectations, it will be difficult to convince citizens that their city was not done wrong by typical inefficiency of a government function.

There is a clash of claims within the Census Bureau, some asserting the count is almost complete except for final checks and others saying it is only 50 per cent complete. The fair deal had better live up to its name in this instance. For what good is a fair deal, in terms of votes, if people get the idea that the deal stinks.

Athletes Honored By Fathers' Ass'n

Dominick, three baseball, two football, and one track; Alfred Daniel, three football, three track.

Pearson gave a list of school activities in which the Fathers' Association subscribed to the past year. They were: Year book, Jefferson school kindergarten, athletic association, Les Memoirs, library books, music council, Bath street school kindergarten, sign for front of school, scholarship and prizes for commencement, keys for athletes, football hoods, and a combination record changer and radios to the Bath street, Washington street, Jefferson avenue, and high school buildings. The Association has spent $600.49 for these activities.

Varsity baseball letters were given to Harvey Smith, Louis Loeffler, Harry Eisenbrey, Vito Escio, Frank Rich. Three times letter winners in baseball were: Joe Dominick, James Morrell, William Moll, Frank Barbetta and Martin Braam.

Those receiving varsity basketball letters from Coach Bloom were: Samuel Petrizzi, Graceon White, and Alfred Daniel, managers; Charles Rauch, Howard Grant, Marty Braam, William Condit, Frank Barbetta, Frank Rich.

Behot, the guest speaker, put a question to the athletes after hearing Pearson state the activities of the Fathers' Association. The question was: "What will you do, so that the Fathers' Association can be proud of you when you leave here?"

"My advice to you is to prepare for college. Make sure that your marks are up. It doesn't matter whether you are an All-American star, or a fast runner that opponents would like to get a shot at, you must have the grades — the higher, the better."

Continuing, the Rider College football coach said: "Now, when a college is interested in a football player, the first question they ask is: 'How are his grades?' They come to the high school coach and then go to the school principal. They are interested in grades. We football coaches today want players that have it up here (pointing to his head) as well as athletic ability."

"I can well remember my first year of coaching at Rider. I lost eight of my first string eleven because of grades. That was my first lesson, I made up my mind then that I wanted players who could study as well as play football. The second year I lost but one player because of grades. The players of today must have good grades and meet those standards as set by the colleges."

"To the under-classesmen tonight, I want to say this: 'Your high school days are filled with liveliness, fun, and carefree, yet you can do more for yourself now. You can really build yourself, so be careful where you associate and with whom you associate.'"

Coach Behot cited an example of a youth of his home town of Burlington who because of his bad associations passed up a college education which was offered him because of his athletic and scholastic abilities, despite the efforts of Behot and the high school coach, "Al"

Rundle, to put him on the right path.

Before closing, the speaker's words of advice were: "Be sure you know what you want to do in life and where (what college) you want to go. Sports is secondary, education is first. When your coach and principal tells you to get down to your studies, they mean it, because they have been through the mill."

Both coaches McClister and Bloom gave parting messages to the seniors and thanked them for their cooperation.

Bloom stated that he hated to lose these seniors for they were the ones who came up with him at Bristol High. He praised their attitude and told them it was a pleasure to be their coach.

McClister told the group that he has one purpose in mind and that is to get one boy a year a free scholarship to some college because of his athletic ability. If we can do that, he feels that something has been done for the community.

He stated that Bristol has the start in getting scholarships but the help of the athletes is needed in getting the marks. So, he told the boys to start pushing their marks up.

Miss Barbara Verkes, girls' coach, was called upon for a few words. She told of how fortunate she was in getting into a set-up as Bristol High and of the fine co-operation she is receiving from both boys and girls.

On behalf of the athletes, Alfred Daniels thanked the Fathers' Association for the affair.

Following the dinner, the following officers were elected and installed for the 1950 year: President, Walter Rosser; vice-president, Nicholas Mannherz; financial secretary, George Perkins; recording secretary, Joseph Buck; treasurer, Walter Cooper; executive board, William Pearson, Arthur Phipps, William White, John Morici, Carlo Juno, and Horace Jeffries.

The menu consisted of: Cole slaw, turkey platter, cranberry sauce, bread and butter, ice cream, pie, cake and coffee. It was prepared and served by the following members of the Mothers' Association: Mrs. William White, Mrs. David Neill, Mrs. Harry Vandegrift, Mrs. Alfred Daniel, Sr., Mrs. Walter Cooper, Mrs. Stanley Keers, Mrs. Russell Crosby, Mrs. Horace Jeffries, Mrs. William Brady, Mrs. Harry Radcliffe, Mrs. Earl McEuen, Mrs. Arthur Zug, and Mrs. Arthur Phipps.

The Fathers' Association presented carnations to the above members of the Mothers' Association for their efforts.

As an observer while the campaign was under way, he has a reputation for honesty for keeping his command free of politics.

Under his command made excellent showing in Manchuria against the Communists. One regiment trained by him severely mauled an entire Communist army for days and, as one observer said, "it still is doing it had the not run out of ammunition."

Units arriving in Formosa have been disarmed, their units deactivated, then they have been trained in American tactics from the ground on those pessimistic about Nationalist China's chances agree that the Nationalists' best bet, as he still does not rate high government leaders and, despite his title, there is good reason to believe that his word is not the one in a variety of matters.

Such is the case, the retraining of the waste and Sun's efforts are going to be canceled out by a morass of palace politics and petty jealousies.

There also is an improvement in government efficiency which is aided by all.

The sound economic position of Formosa makes for such improvement, the island being a food-surplus area in normal times. Oppressive land rents—an underlying cause of Nationalist failure on the mainland—have been eased to some extent.

Formosans have been given a larger role in the government and General K. C. Wu—whose irresistible energy gives him the aspect of a college cheer leader—has excellent reputation for honesty.

It is thought to improve the Nationalists' chances for success.

Geography is very much on their side. The 100-mile Strait of Formosa is a formidable barrier, particularly for the Communists and their Russian advisers, all severely deficient in experience in amphibious operations.

The Allied strike across the much narrower English Channel into Normandy during World War II, took years of preparation and training. But basically, the answer can be found in the question of whether the reforms have put the Chinese Nationalists in a mood to fight.

Much of the Communist advance on the mainland can be traced to negotiation rather than combat and many of the battles apparently were much less bloody than depicted.

If the Nationalists stand and fight, they may turn back the expected invasion but only when the assault is launched can there be a definite and conclusive answer.

Parents' Travel Problem

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

AS my readers know, I have constantly emphasized in this column the young child's need of mingling freely with normal playmates. He also needs to be with his parents, both of them.

Here comes a question from a clergyman, who writes:

"Dear Dr. Myers:

"We may soon be entering evangelistic work, and expect to be traveling all over the nation, staying for a week or two in one place and then moving on to another. We had planned to buy a trailer, so that we could still have a home, and take our son, three, along with us.

"We were very happy with our plans until a friend told us that we would be robbing our boy of too much by taking him away from the companionship of children from his own age—that we should leave him behind with our parents. This would mean that we would see him only a few weeks out of the year.

"We realize, of course, that both his home life and his normal outside relationships are important, but a choice will have to be made. And while we are fully aware that living in a trailer will not be a normal life for a child, we would make every effort to find companionship with other children for him everywhere we go.

Which is more important?

"We want to make our decision with our son's welfare in mind, not selfishly. And since it is difficult for us to remain completely unprejudiced, we are asking for your frank, objective opinion. Which is more important to a child, being with parents or other children?"

My reply was about as follows: Important as it is for your son to have normal companionship of his own age, it is still more important for him to live with his parents, especially during these tender years. I trust you spare no reasonable amount of time and effort to get this child with other children his age. At his present age, it should be relatively easy for him to adapt himself to new little friends often.

The problem would grow more difficult after he is six, especially after ten or twelve, when his going with you might be of doubtful wisdom.

Hard On Nerves

His meeting so many new persons, especially new playmates, will be pretty trying on his nerves. He may become over-stimulated and over-excited. Be sure he gets many quiet periods and plenty of sleep. When both of you must be away from him, provide a very calm and patient baby sitter who will read much to him. For him to go regularly to the meetings may be too strenuous or boring for him, yet if he likes it, and adapts himself comfortably, the gains may be greater than the losses.

Each of you parents should spend some time daily with him, reading to him, walking with him, making and doing things with him. Also, one of you should give him enough supervision, when with playmates, for his physical safety, and for their enjoyment together and his learning gradually to share. It won't be easy to curb this child's selfishness and to render him thoughtful of others.

CHARMER STARS

HOLLYWOOD, — (INS) — Allene Roberts, 21-year-old dramatic actress who impersonates an 18-year-old blind girl in "Union Station," was once named "America's Most Charming Child" by the New York Daily Mirror and other papers.

END PARADE

ALHAMBRA, Cal. — (INS) — The "Know Your City" parade held in Alhambra reached an ironic climax. An engineering department paving truck, in line with other shiny new civic vehicles, lurched into an immense crack in the street and stopped further festivities.

Bristolians Are Hailed Into The Bucks Co. Court

turns his entire paycheck of $50 over to his wife.

The case of Leroy Pearson, charged with drunken driving and assault and battery by automobile, was withdrawn and ordered continued by Judge Keller. During Officer Joseph M. Bresley's testimony, it developed the Vernon Roy Smith, Kings Farm worker, who was injured, is still in the hospital and could not attend as a witness.

Joseph Haworth, 34, Croydon, the father of one son but who is estranged from his wife, was sentenced to serve not less than 30 days nor more than 23 months in the County Prison. Haworth stole $150 from a strong box in the Keystone Hotel, Bristol, March 26, but later returned to the Bristol police station, where he gave himself up and confessed his crime. He was in trouble in 1931 and in 1934, when he took a car without the owner's consent. "Because you were sorry for what you did and still have some conscience left, I am going to give you another chance," said the Court.

A New Hope landscape gardener and married man who "walked away" from the farm outside the walls of the Bucks County Prison on May 4, while awaiting a hearing in Bucks county court on charges of chicken stealing, pleaded guilty, before Judge Biester. He is Raymond Moore, 34, who was given sentences that aggregate 15 months to three years in the Bucks County Prison, on charges of burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods. Judge Biester told Moore that the sentence would not have been so severe had he not escaped from the prison farm. Moore told Judge Biester that the reason he escaped was to see his wife and children in New Hope, who he had been informed were in need. Moore was returned to the prison by his father, after a brief visit at home.

Moore pleaded guilty to the theft of chickens from two places in the Lahaska section.

A Langhorne RD resident was sentenced to 60 days in the Bucks County Prison, by Judge Biester after he had pleaded guilty to operating an automobile without the consent of the owner.

He is John T. Carrington, Jr., who took a car belonging to his stepfather and returned it on the lawn of the home of John L. Kolb, on the morning of March 18, on Mechanicsville road, near Street road, Bensalem township, Carrington was on parole on another charge when he was arrested by State Police on the car charge. Judge Biester fined Charles Kohler, of Morrisville, $75 and costs, after Kohler pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle after the privilege had been suspended and revoked.

C. William Freed Is Honored By Bar Ass'n

DOYLESTOWN, May 18.—C. William Freed, prominent Quakertown attorney, who was admitted to the Bucks County Bar Association in 1908, and has practiced in this county continuously since that time, has been honored by his professional associates who have elected him president of the Bucks County Bar Association for the ensuing year.

The election took place at the annual meeting in the Court House here, which was followed by a dinner at the Water Wheel Tavern.

Attorney Freed, who succeeds John P. Betz, Jr., of Bristol, who has completed a year of successful Bar Association activities, is head of the Quakertown law firm with whom his son, C. William Freed, Jr., is affiliated. For a number of years the association's new president was general counsel for the Commonwealth Casualty Company of Philadelphia, and was recently elected president of the Merchants' National Bank of Quakertown.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting are: Samuel S. Gray, Jr., Newtown, vice-president; Claire G. Biehn, Quakertown, secretary; and William F. Begley, Churchville, treasurer.

The guest speaker for the occasion was Superior Court Judge Horace Stern, who presented an informal talk on the practice of law and courts in general. Among the guests were representatives of the Bar Associations of Montgomery, Delaware and Chester counties.

This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. The "Saints" had 13 safe blows. "Rabbit" Palumbo found his batting eye and rapped out four hits in five trips to the plate. "Lou" Mari also pounded the ball hard, getting a pair of doubles and a single while Bert Barbetta contributed a triple to the batting orgy.

ELIGIBILITY RULES
STILL HOLD GOOD*No Changes Made in Regard
To Social Security
Payments*NUMEROUS INQUIRIES

Increased public interest in pensions has resulted in a large number of inquiries being made at the local Social Security office about the eligibility requirements for old-age and survivors insurance.

Local residents were reminded by Harry W. Pease, manager of the local Social Security office, 3207 Kensington Avenue, Philadelphia 34, Pa., that there has not yet been any change in the eligibility requirements for the Federal insurance payments.

"Although there was a bill passed by the House of Representatives last fall," the manager said, "it will have no effect on the present requirements until it has been passed by both Houses of the Congress and signed by the President."

Under the present law, retirement insurance payments can be paid to a worker as soon as he becomes 65 years of age and is earning less than $15 a month in a job covered by the law, provided he is "insured." The Kensington field office says that a worker is "insured" if he has worked in covered employment half as much time as there has been from January 1, 1937, to his 65th birthday. If he became 65 early in 1940, he needs a year and a half of covered employment. If he becomes 65 this month, he will need at least six and a half years of covered employment.

As soon as a worker has spent 10 full years in employment covered by the Social Security Act, he is insured for the rest of his life, no matter what his age at this time. However, he must wait until he is 65 to draw any benefits.

In death cases the requirements are substantially the same as for retirement, except that the length of employment required is determined by the period from January 1, 1937, to the date of the worker's death if that occurs sooner than his 65th birthday. If the worker has died before he had worked long enough to meet the requirements just stated, his family may still be eligible for some payments provided he has worked at least a year and a half out of the three-year period ending with his death.

"However," Pease said, "don't try to figure out whether you're eligible by asking your friends, or guessing about it—a call at the Social Security office will answer the question promptly and accurately."

Old-age and survivors insurance payments are paid from a trust fund, made up of tax payments from employers and employees alike. The amounts payable, and the conditions of eligibility all hinge on the employment record. The applicant's need, or his resources are not considered in approving old-age and survivors insurance applications.

For the convenience of residents of the eastern portion of Bucks County, a representative of the local office is present at the post office in Bristol, every Thursday from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.

QUAKERTOWN SCHOOL TAX TO REMAIN SAME

School Budget Calls For Estimate Expenditure Of $439,615

ONE TEACHER RESIGNS

QUAKERTOWN, May 18 — That there will be no increase in the school tax rate is an announcement made by Quakertown board of school directors.

The 39 mill rate, and the per capita tax of $5, same as last year, will remain in effect, it is stated. Levies are based on a school budget calling for an estimated expenditure of $439,615. The budget has been approved by the directors. The new budget calls for an approximate $8,000 increase over last year's figure. This, it has been explained, is due chiefly to the increased cost of instruction in the school system. In addition to the mandated salary increases, the new budget calls for additional insurance expenditures.

However, it is likely the school district will receive more state appropriation this year because of the recreation program conducted in the local schools. The district may receive $104,000 from the state.

The resignation of one teacher has been accepted by the board. Howard Waite, who has not been actively engaged in teaching recently, presented his resignation. A sabbatical leave of one year has been granted Mrs. Ruth Baker, of the high school staff. Mrs. Baker is the home economist.

No action has been taken concerning consolidation, but it is expected this will be thoroughly discussed at the meeting next month.

DOYLESTOWN, May 18 — Although they had to borrow the money to pay for it, Doylestown Fire Company active firemen, authorized their officers to make financial arrangements to purchase the $15,939 new fire engine.

Treasurer Horace M. Mann reported that the fire company can obtain $14,000 on a note from the Doylestown Trust Company at four per cent interest. Trust company officials have indicated that the return payments must be made in amounts not less than $500 or in denominations of $500 such as $1,000 or $1,500.

Treasurer Mann, who said the firemen will receive about $3,000 from Doylestown Borough Council this Summer, explained that a $14,000 note should be sufficient to carry the purchase.

Modern Bridges Are Replacing Historic Structures Throughout State

SOME BIG ONES BUILT

The covered bridges of an earlier day are yielding to the Pennsylvania Highway Department's onward march of progress, Secretary of Highways Ray F. Smock reported today.

Nine of the romantic old structures were replaced by more practical concrete or steel structures during the last year to the delight of motorists and the regret of admirers of early Americana.

But 205 of the old timber structures remain on the State Highway System. They, of course, carry weight limitations, principally under the five-ton class, but there are several capable of bearing heavier loads.

The bridge across the East Branch of the Brandywine Creek on Route 502 in Chester County is capable of a 13-ton load, as is the Route 21023 bridge across the Yellow Breeches in Cumberland County. Indiana County has a covered bridge that will carry 15 tons. It is across the Little Mahoning on Route 32095. There is another 15-ton bridge on Route 50010 where it crosses Sherman's Creek in Perry County. There are two 10-ton covered bridges. One is on Route 01005 across the South Branch of the Conewago in Adams County and the other on Route 21032 across the Conodoguinet Creek in Cumberland County.

Greene County leads in the number of old timber bridges with 22 followed by Bedford, Columbia and Washington counties, each with 21. Clinton, Franklin, Northampton and Northumberland counties are each down to their last one.

In several counties of the State, historical societies and similar public spirited groups have taken steps to preserve for posterity these examples of an early century's engineering ingenuity and skillful craftsmanship.

SUGGESTIONS ARE OF AID IN SEWING ON NYLON FABRIC

By Miss Frances Vannoy
Home Economics Extension Rep.
Sewing on nylon fabric is much like sewing any fine material. Results will be more satisfactory, however, if you take a little extra care.

Here are a few tips for a better looking job.

When cutting nylon fabric, be sure your shears, needles, and pins are sharp and free of nicks. Don't attempt to tear nylon. Cut on the bias, curve, or any slight angle to avoid puckering. It is not necessary to observe the grain of material because nylon is heat set and won't stretch or lose its shape. Leave wide seam allowances.

Lapped or French seams are desirable where practical. A plain seam, stitched twice—one stitching on the regular seam line, the other about one-fourth inch into the seam allowance, may be used.

For basting as well as stitching, use either nylon or fine mercerized cotton thread. Nylon thread tends to untwist. For best results, slacken tension on the machine to avoid drawing and puckering of seams. Be sure you wind nylon thread on the bobbin both loosely and evenly. Use a fine machine needle and the fewest number of stitches per inch that are needed for strength. Hold your fabric front and back without letting it slip. Seams should be well in from the edge of the fabric. Sew slowly.

Press seams as you go; press on wrong side of fabric, having iron at low heat. Nylon will simply dissolve if you use a hot iron.

In sewing with nylon, it may be desirable to use a nylon zipper. The fabric section of the zipper will then have the same qualities as the rest of the garment.
